

Education & Training

Workshops

If you are interested in developing your knowledge and skills around business functions and topics impacting your charity, attendance at one of our workshop style seminars can help support you to achieve more.

We provide high quality and at times free seminar programmes working in conjunction with leading sector umbrella bodies to share our breadth of skills and knowledge in areas of finance and strategic management.

The workshop style is a combination of lecturing, training session activities, group work and individual work encouraging participants to ask questions, debate issues and challenge the norms. This way you receive the most out of the session.

Charity Business have voluntarily provided seminars that are tailored specifically to meet the needs of our members delivering content on topics that is engaging whilst providing delegates with the tools and theory to address issues they have come up against... The content and reference material is always to the highest standard and presented by an extremely knowledgeable and engaging speaker.
